

When it comes to Special Features, let your Imagination (not the gremlins) run the Show!

Behind the Scenes at the Making of Your DVD Outtakes Reel

Bloopers and outtakes make great material for Hollywood blockbuster's, but for those in advertising, education and corporate video, the Special Features section of DVDs can also be a great opportunity to enhance an audiences disc viewing experience.

Here are some notable ways to include interactive content that can make the Special Features work for you:

- For documentaries, include a media kit with sample press releases, digital pictures and teasers for the web. Video Labs can also create a version of your video for hand-held devices like the iPod or iPhone.

- Create a Resource Section with web links for downloading up-to-date information. This will increase the shelf-life of your project and save on printing costs for discussion guide and educational materials.
- For educators and corporate trainers, we can assist you with the creation of an interactive quiz feature to reinforce the material in your presentation.
- React to the global marketplace by including subtitles in most any language. We can also ensure your DVD menus are translated into many languages.
- Don't forget to include a bio about the director, producer, writer and other talent involved in the project.
